Check all with which you agree:

- All people possess certain unalienable natural rights, and among these are the rights to life, liberty, justly-acquired property, and self-governance.
- The only moral basis for government is the preservation and protection of unalienable natural rights.
- No person or institution, public or private, has the right to initiate the use of physical force or fraud against another person.
- All people are bound without contract to abstain from infringing upon the natural rights of other people.
- All people are entitled to choose their own lifestyles as long as they do not forcibly impose those values on others.
- The voluntary and unrestricted exchange of goods and services is fundamental to a peaceful and prosperous society.
- I do not believe in or advocate the initiation of force in order to achieve political or social goals.
